

I'm a Realtor, and service is at my heart. I believe we have a duty to advocate and protect our industry, and that commitment begins with service within our Association. With six years of real estate experience, I understand the importance of being a voice for my clients, colleagues, and the future of our profession. Through joining committees and participating in the Leadership Academy, I gained a deeper appreciation for diversity, representation, collaboration, and advocacy. These experiences strengthened my desire to serve, lead, and help direct positive change within our industry. Our industry can not change on its own, and the Association cannot do it alone. Our Association is guided by diverse, like-minded visionary leaders who understand that today's decisions shape our tomorrow. As Realtors, our voices and experiences matter. We owe it to our industry to serve it well, protect its future, and help shape positive change for today, tomorrow, and the Realtors to come.
