

With 23 years as a REALTOR® in the Greater St. Louis Metro Area, Kate Thompson has built her career on one simple principle: understanding matters. Understanding her clients' goals, their concerns, and what "home" truly means to them. And understanding her fellow REALTORS® — because this industry has always been built on the belief that we're stronger together than we are alone.

Born and raised in St. Louis, Kate has deep roots in this community and a genuine love for the region she calls home. Outside of real estate, she is a devoted wife, a proud bonus mom to an wonderful young woman, and a self-described fur baby enthusiast.

Whether she's guiding a client through one of the biggest decisions of their life or showing up as a member of St. Louis Realtors to events and community events, Kate brings the same energy — present, prepared, and genuinely invested in the people and the association she serves.
